

Willie The Police Horse

By Robert Brizel

Sunshine shines through the window. Willie wakes up.

Willie eats oats for breakfast.

Willie gets saddled.

A police officer, Mr. Harris, mounts Willie.

They ride.

Willie stops at the police station.

Willie walks the streets.

Willie patrols the park.

Willie marches in a parade.

Willie helps an injured man after a car accident.

Willie gives a little girl a ride.

Friendly children pet Willie and feed him carrots.

Willie gets a drink of water from a hose from the grocer outside the market.

One day, Officer Harris and Willie see something strange outside the bank.

Two policemen lie on the sidewalk by their patrol car.

One man is not moving. "Help, help! Bank robbery in progress!" cries the other.

Officer Harris hears gunfire inside the bank. He calls for backup on his walkie-talkie.

A bank robbery is in progress. People are screaming. A baby carriage is on its side.

Willie charges through the bank window.

Officer Harris captures the bank robbers.

Willie lies on the bank floor. Willie has been shot.

A special ambulance takes Willie to the animal hospital.

Willie has surgery.

A newsman broadcasts Willie's story. Willie is a hero.

Children come to visit Willie in the animal hospital.

Willie leaves the hospital.

The police commissioner gives Willie a gold badge and a medal at a special ceremony.

Officer Harris and Willie patrol the streets again.

There is a gold badge attached to Willie's saddle.

People see Willie. Everybody smiles.

It is nightfall. Willie returns to the police barn.

Willie eats his oats.

Willie sleeps in his stall.

Willie arises with the sunshine.

Willie drinks water from the trough.

Willie greets Officer Harris. They are friends.

It is a new day. Officer Harris and Willie are off to work.